

yellow = take-aways

I learned that we need to constantly try to be flexible with our strategies and be tuned to what works or doesn't in the classroom.

Take away
check in with Maritza about retakes...

Encourage students to reflect on their strategies, identify them & assume responsibility for them.

I was struck by how important that student number skills or chunks of skills in a different way than was expected and that fact was very useful information that could help in the long run.

Take Away
- Intention
- SMART Goal
- Study Well
- each student felt heard & supportive

Learning more about your own learning is invaluable.

Goal Setting - know what you want to accomplish

Takeaway
Help students understand and evaluate their "Evidence of Mastery"
- Daily goal setting (specific) for group work

takeaway
we really need to teach our kids how to study/learn effectively themselves (and it will look different for each kid)

Take-aways
① This kind of thoughtful planning really encourages the girls to own their own learning.
② Time consuming to set up - time saving in the long run importance of specificity in students identifying what they are doing (targets, studying...) Ownership

take-aways
How can I help my students think more specifically, personally, meaningfully about generic classroom activities like:
- goals
- practice
- studying
- making

Individualized Teaching/Learning
* "Practice" vs. "Homework"

takeaways
It's important to teach ~~take~~
- goal setting,
- language around goal setting, strategies, etc
+ give time for reflection

For Me - Takeaway
If we really believe learning is more important than grades - we have to give time to this and give up older teaching habits & focus on fairness

Question
* If this continues in the US, can we get some students to come share in the MS what they have learned - ways more effective than hearing from adults

Take-aways

Face to Face - metris
• Know test prep strategy
• not stress out about their learning goals
• make student goals
• infographic

Takeaway
- metacognition work
taken away from time on content but it is such a worthwhile investment in a Life Skill

Takeaway
It is valuable to reflect on habits around competing work in prepping for test.

One-on-one individualized

Use checkins for focusing group work

• Check in on group work + student contributions to group
• 2 in 2 + check in w/ students

really liked the idea of the group agenda w/ asking about specific goals

Really liked the group accountability worksheet as a way to keep them engaged, focused + participating fully

While time - Consuming at first, this work seems like it will really help in the future
Bl- benefit!

Takeaway
Align request from → create student id distribution map, email etc
• Classroom activities
• 1/2 hour 1st, 2nd

Takeaway
I need to "on 1"
and the different ideas from all 3
presentations!
Very helpful!

Learning is long-range. May transfer present ideas to other classes/life.

Structuring
metacognition
into the curriculum is important at all ages

Thank you!
I liked the idea
for test retakes Student reflection and evaluation of mistakes in addition to specific exercises that will help students to see improvements in mastery, not just grades

It is extremely important to have students think about - if articulate their learning... and own it.

Takeaway -
Test retakes can be helpful + good + not always about grade
gubbing

Making the results of change visible and actionable to students improves learning and mastery.
